

COVID

Ulisse Di Corpo¹ and Antonella Vannini²

This is the dialogue between Ulisse Di Corpo and Antonella Vannini available in the video: t.me/sintropiaentropia/53. The data used are taken from the Worldometer site at the Coronavirus page.

Ulisse: The first cases of COVID-19 date back to the end of December 2019.

Antonella: Do we know where the virus originated from?

Ulisse: There are conflicting versions. Westerners blame the Chinese and point to the Wuhan laboratory, but according to the Chinese the virus was created in the military laboratories of Fort Detrick and then brought to Wuhan to blame China and use it as a scapegoat. The Chinese have asked the international community to carry out an inspection of the Fort Detrick laboratories, but so far this has not been allowed. The Chinese were expecting such an attack and their reaction was swift. By February, treatments had already been identified and by March 2020 the pandemic was eradicated.

Antonella: How did they eradicate Covid?

Ulisse: They used three tools: screenings, therapies, and lockdowns.

Antonella: So, no vaccines?

¹ ulisse.dicorpo@gmail.com

² antonella.vannini@gmail.com

Ulisse: China has developed its own vaccine, Sinovax, a traditional broad-spectrum vaccine, which they started using in December 2020.

Antonella: So, in March 2020, when the pandemic was eradicated, they didn't use vaccines.

Ulisse: Exactly, they used screenings, early care and targeted lockdowns.

Antonella: When did the last deaths in China occur?

Ulisse: The latest Covid deaths in China date back to April 2020.

Antonella: Has the pandemic returned?

Ulisse: In the rare cases in which it reappeared, such as at the end of July 2021 in Nanjing with the Delta variant, the three winning tools have always been: screenings, targeted lockdowns and early therapies. Thus the Delta variant was defeated in just two weeks.

Antonella: Can you tell me more about what happened in Nanjing?

Ulisse: A passenger from Moscow going through Nanjing airport infected four workers with the Delta variant. Screenings made it possible to immediately identify the infected workers. It was thus possible to trace the infected passenger, who however, before being blocked, had already infected other 300 people. There were no hospitalizations and home care was sufficient.

Antonella: How many positive people are there in China right now?

1,133

Currently Infected Patients

1,111 (98%)

in Mild Condition

22 (2%)

Serious or Critical

Ulisse: Now, December 8, 2021, there are one thousand one hundred and thirty-three positive people in China for Covid, of which 22 are hospitalized.

Antonella: Have there been any deaths in China lately?

Ulisse: No. Since April 2020 there have been no more deaths because or with Covid.

Antonella: Has life in China returned normal?

Ulisse: Yes! All people can participate in public events, go anywhere, and masks are not required. All Chinese are screened several times a month and if they are positive home therapies are immediately activated. The golden rule is to identify the positives in the first twenty-four hours.

Antonella: What is the average number of positives in China?

Ulisse: On average between ten and forty people, but in the case of the Delta variant, one hundred cases per day were exceeded last July.

Antonella: What did the Chinese do when the pandemic broke out in Italy?

Ulisse: On March 19, 2020, a few days after the epidemic began in Italy, China sent doctors, drugs, hyperimmune blood and equipment for intensive care. Doctors should have trained their Italian colleagues on the treatments to defeat the pandemic.

Antonella: Has their knowledge been used?

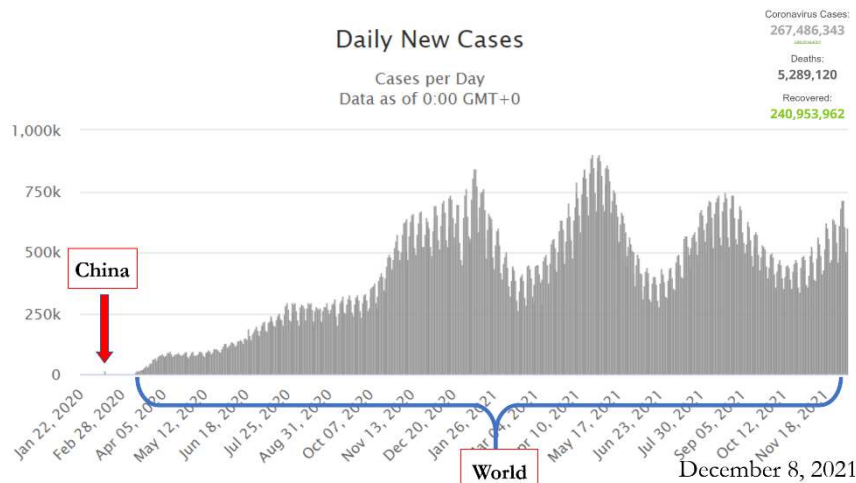

Ulisse: The Italian doctors were ordered by the Ministry of Health to follow the protocol of “Tachipirina and watchful waiting”, which only aggravated the patient’s clinical situation. Furthermore, doctors who dared to use Chinese protocols were sent away from hospitals, censored and isolated.

Antonella: Anyone who tried to cure was stopped?

Ulisse: Yes, and this is continuing today. The “International Covid Summit” was held in Rome from 12 to 14 September, with the participation of hundreds of doctors from all over the world, including Nobel laureates. Early home care was discussed and presented. Newspapers and televisions censored the event or described it as a meeting of charlatans.

Antonella: Are you saying that treatments are not used in the West?

Ulisse: Exactly, and this is the reason that led the pandemic to grow from 90,000 cases registered in China to 267 million cases registered worldwide, and to 5 million deaths. Following the Chinese example, the pandemic could have been stopped as early as March-April 2020. The following graph shows the positive cases in China, the dot on the left, compared with the positive cases in the rest of the world.

Antonella: If I am not mistaken, the Italian doctors have repeatedly written to the Minister of Health to inform him of the existence of the treatments, but have not received any response.

Ulisse: The obstruction of treatment suggests that the pandemic was intentional and that it was started in China to use it as a scapegoat.

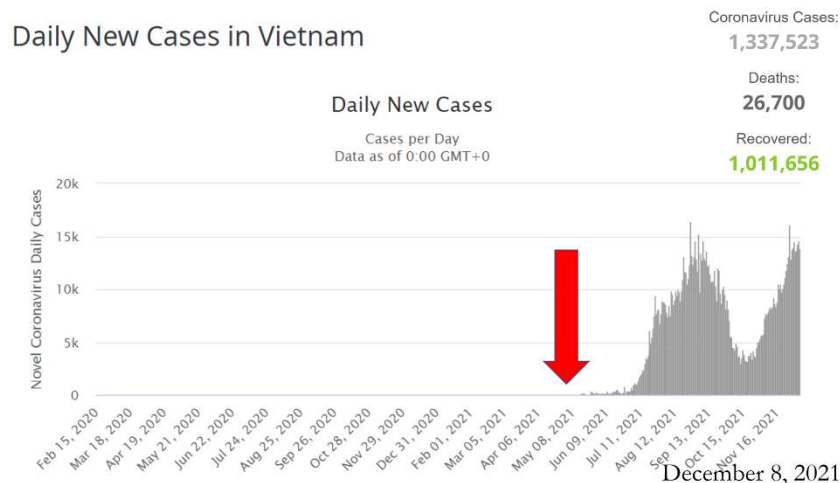

Antonella: And the vaccines?

Ulisse: The case of Vietnam is enlightening. As of April 2021, Vietnam had no deaths and had had only 432 positive cases.

Antonella: Why so few?

Ulisse: Because they followed the Chinese model of screening, early home care and lockdowns. People were free to move, no masks or lockdowns were needed, and the economy was not stalled.

Antonella: What happened then?

Ulisse: On April 15, 2021, the government changed. The new leadership is pro-US and anti-China. Vietnam quickly established military cooperation with the United States. The US government asked for a vaccination campaign with Pfizer and Moderna. Shortly after, the pandemic exploded which in a few months caused more than twenty-seven thousand deaths and one million three hundred thousand infections.

Antonella: So the vaccination campaign caused the pandemic?

Ulisse: Yes, and the same happened in many other countries. For example, in the Seychelles islands they had no cases, then they decided to start the vaccination campaign to be a Covid-free reality and the pandemic exploded.

Antonella: However, I see that in Vietnam the curve has then dropped.

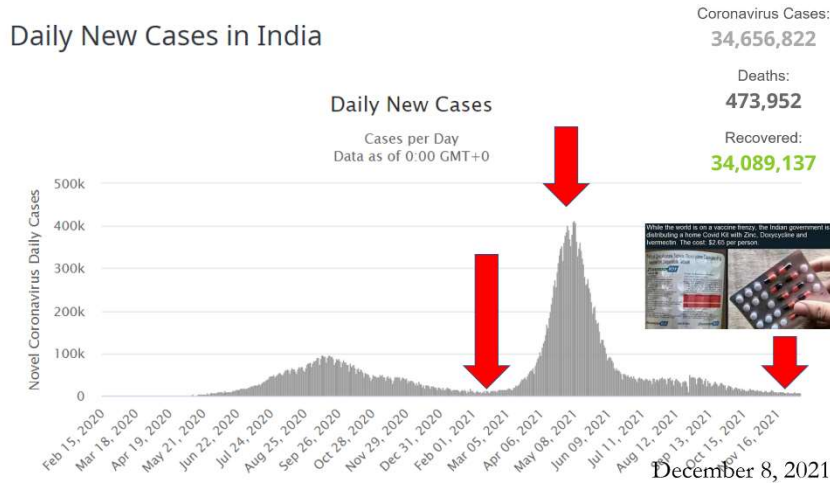

Ulisse: It is true, but this thanks to a very hard “military” lockdown, with the closure of city streets, with barriers and checkpoints and the deployment of soldiers with the order to shoot. This has prompted the government to impose vaccination on the entire population, with the result of causing further infections and deaths, despite the military lockdown.

Antonella: All because of the introduction of vaccines?

Ulisse: Yes. Another example is offered by India.

Antonella: What happened in India?

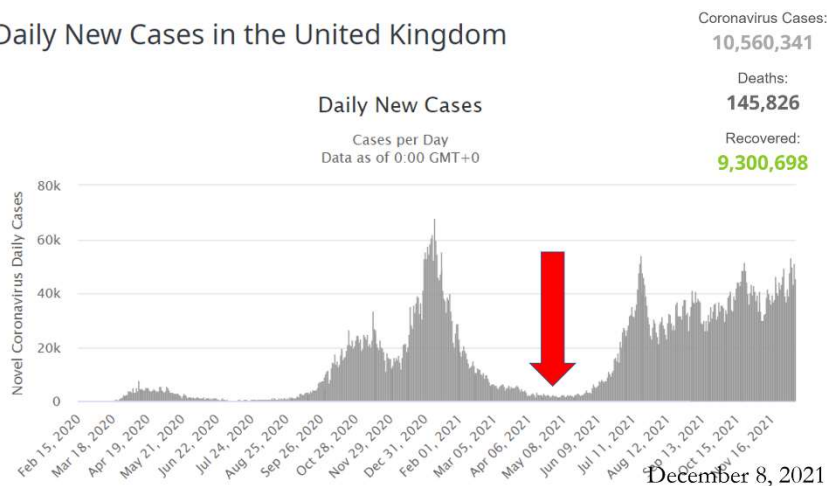

Ulisse: In March 2021, the vaccination campaign with Western vaccines started, and immediately after an increase in infections and deaths is observed. The dead were almost exclusively vaccinated people. The Indian prime minister ordered at this point to stop the vaccinations, and in May 2021 he signed an agreement with Russia for one billion doses of the Russian Sputnik vaccine. As soon as they started using Sputnik, the infections decreased from 400 thousand cases a day to about 40 thousand. At this point, India started distributing home care kits to all citizens. This kit contains drugs such as Ivermectin which have been banned in the West. The use of this kit, which costs only two dollars, has practically eliminated the infection.

Antonella: Is the situation in India now normalizing?

Ulisse: By continuing like this, India could defeat Covid within a few months.

Antonella: The harmful effect of Western vaccines in which other countries has it been observed?

Daily New Cases in the United Kingdom

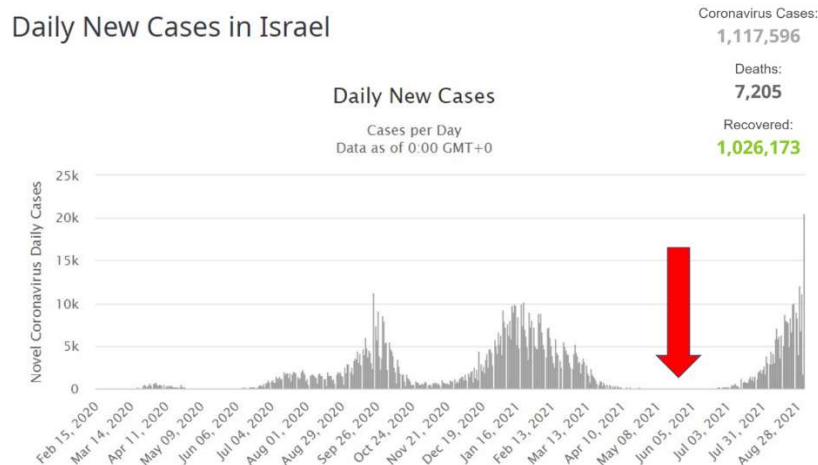

Ulisse: In all countries. In the United Kingdom, one of the countries with the highest vaccination rate, in May/June the daily new cases had dropped significantly and everyone was talking of the vaccine miracle. In May, the UK changed the way positives are counted. Instead of counting the number of positive tests (which could refer to the same person who tests more than once, until becoming negative), people are now the unit which is counted: for example, if a person tests positive, the following tests are not counted, even if positive. For this reason, UK's current figures should be multiplied by at least three to be compared with previous ones. In June, the infection starts to rise again, exceeding the peaks of the previous winter. Despite the massive use of the third dose, the infection still continues to rise. Currently, only vaccinated people get infected and die in the United Kingdom.

Antonella: So what was the reason of the decline observed in May?

Ulisse: The decline was due to the fact that the UK was coming out from a very tough lockdown, and the fact that in spring flus naturally tend to fade.

Antonella: Another example?

Ulisse: The dramatic example was that of Israel. Also in this case, the victory of vaccines was celebrated, but soon after the infections resumed, by far exceeding the values of the previous winter.

Antonella: At the end of August, Tel Aviv's central hospital estimated that vaccinated people were 18 times more vulnerable than unvaccinated.

Ulisse: In England in September, the Oxford University calculated that vaccinated people are 250 times more at risk than unvaccinated and tend to be much more contagious than unvaccinated.

Antonella: For what reason?

Ulisse: The vaccine specializes the immune system. For example, the first two doses specialized the immune system on Wuhan 1, the first Covid strain that disappeared last February. The natural flexibility of the immune system is compromised and this prevents the body from dealing with the variants.

Antonella: What about antibodies?

Ulisse: They are effective with the Wuhan 1 strain, but with variants they can become dangerous. Nobel laureate Luc Montagnier has shown that vaccines can cause ADE in the presence of variants.

Antonella: What is ADE?

Ulisse: In the case of a variant, the vaccine recognizes the threat, but the antibodies produced are ineffective.

Antonella: And what happens?

Ulisse: The variant spreads throughout the body and the immune system produces more and more antibodies, and ends attacking the whole organism, leading to its death.

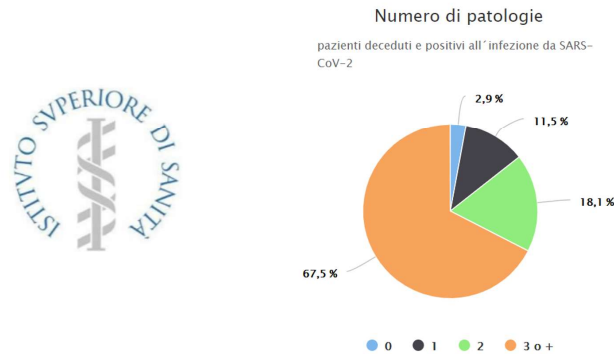

Antonella: Have there been any cases of ADE related to the Covid vaccine?

Ulisse: Cases of ADE are now becoming widespread. ADE is deadly and appears to be endemic in the UK and Israel.

Antonella: I was struck by the Report on the characteristics of patients who died positive for Covid in Italy, published by the Istituto Superiore di Sanità, last October. Of the 130,000 deaths from Covid in Italy since the start of the pandemic, only 2.9% was caused by Covid. In the other cases they were people already with one or more serious illnesses, and 67.5% with three or more serious illnesses, in a terminal state. These people did not die from Covid but were simply positive to Covid when they died. According to the Istituto Superiore di Sanità, there have been fewer than four thousand deaths in Italy from Covid, a number significantly lower than the deaths caused by seasonal flu. On the contrary, vaccine deaths have already exceeded twenty thousand.

Istituto Superiore di Sanità
Caratteristiche dei pazienti deceduti positivi all'infezione da SARS-CoV-2 in Italia
<https://www.epicentro.iss.it/coronavirus/sars-cov-2-decessi-italia#2>

Ulisse: So, based on these data, I understand that the vaccine is more dangerous than Covid itself.

Antonella: It seems so.